

South Jersey Regional Crime Scene Investigations (CSI) Training

Background:

Rutgers University, Camden and The Gloucester County Prosecutor's Office have partnered to host crime scene investigation training. The subjects are designed to offer a broad overview of different disciplines and skills within the field of crime scene investigations. The training is geared towards professionals who are currently conducting death investigations and/or who have an interest in investigating deaths.

Cost:

With the exception of the 3-day Aquatics Death Investigation subject, each class is free (with limited availability).
